As more playing opportunities have emerged over time, Cali Roll continues to bring together players from across the Bay Area to play at a high level, primarily in open college tournaments.

Coaches

Lindi

Lindi began coaching girls' high school ultimate in 2008 by helping found the Radnor High School Girls' team outside of Philadelphia. Upon arriving in the Bay Area, she was recruited to help found and coach California Roll, which at the time was the sole girls' team in the Bay Area (thankfully that's changed!). She has helped transform Cali Roll into a competitive traveling team while continuing to foster its inclusiveness. Her primary focus is building individual skills and sewing them into the fabric of a team.

Puma

Anne Marie, or "Puma", began playing ultimate frisbee while teaching middle and high school in the Dominican Republic. She got her first opportunity to coach by running an after-school ultimate frisbee team for her students. A few years later, she moved to California for graduate school and played for 2 years with Stanford Superfly. Currently, she's a player on Nightlock, a Bay Area women's club team. She joined Lindi as a Cali Roll coach in 2017-18.
